

Programme Director for Transnational Programmes (m/f/d)

You are a leader

You will be responsible for our selected transnational tourism degree programmes and organising teaching operations in cooperation with partner universities, with a primary focus on our locations in Baku, Cairo, Sanya, and Tashkent. This role centers on managing these programmes and maintaining rigorous quality control across our international sites. This involves close coordination with the programme directors of the relevant degree programmes in Krems. In addition you will be lecturing in your specialist subject.

The position is a senior lecturer position. The programme director position is a fixed-term position for two years and can be extended if the evaluation is positive.

You have a distinctly international outlook

- University degree (PhD or equivalent)
- Experience with international university partnerships and working in intercultural teams
- University teaching experience (experience at an AACSB-accredited institution is an advantage)
- Strong research profile focused primarily on a robust publication record, alongside active membership in the scientific community (reflected in memberships, conference attendance, and peer review work)
- Strong willingness to travel
- Excellent English and German (min. C1 Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)

You are highly committed and willing to learn and have excellent organisational skills. A professional demeanour, respect for colleagues and leadership abilities are very important to us. We expect our people to work efficiently with an emphasis on achieving targets, and to adopt an entrepreneurial, strategic approach.

We offer you appreciative services

Flexible working models

Extensive further training

Health programme

Trailblazing research methods

International environment

Attractive locations

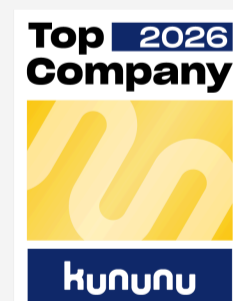

IMC Krems is not member to any collective agreement. The minimum annual gross salary for this position is EUR 63.000,- on the basis of full-time employment (40 hours per week) plus the allowance for the programme director. Depending on professional qualifications and experience, we are willing to overpay. The award of a professorship is not tied to the conclusion of an employment contract but to a peer review process and requires appropriate evidence of the candidate's record in teaching, research and practice.

About IMC Krems

Our university offers students, lecturers and employees the perfect environment for their personal development. We take responsibility for the best education and thus create important values for the future of our society. IMC Krems is committed to promoting equal opportunities and diversity. This means that we particularly welcome applications from women, people from international backgrounds and people with disabilities or chronic conditions.

What sets us apart from the rest

Highly ranked in terms of both teaching and research, we can offer an innovative, international working environment in the heart of the Wachau Cultural Landscape and World Cultural Heritage Region.
